

MARK CHANEY

RA, LEED AP, NCARB Certified
Creative Managing Director

Mark founded mark chaney architects with a desire to create substantial sustainable architecture. His previous experience in the architecture and design industry, including five years at Kohn Pedersen Fox in New York, produced award winning residential, university, and commercial projects worldwide. He is an NCARB certified registered architect and creates and consults with colleagues on projects across the United States from Connecticut to California including spots in between.

Mark has lectured on various digital media topics at workshops around the country and has published written work in a variety of architectural monographs and construction industry publications. His renderings and projects have been widely exhibited. As an educator, he has advised on design projects with high school students, served on design juries for Colleges and Universities, and taught digital media techniques at the Rhode Island School of Design.

An avid photographer, Mark has a series of digital photography projects promoted through REDMARK design. As a member of the New York Road Runners Club he has run two New York City Marathons. Mark received his Master of Science in Advanced Architectural Design from Columbia University in 1992 and his Bachelor of Architecture Degree from Kansas State University in 1986. He was recipient of the Distinguished Alumni Award, Alpha Rho Chi Leadership Award, and edited the architectural journal, Oz, at KSU.

The hidden harmony is better than the obvious.
